

A day in the garden for all

BRING the kids and learn something new about gardening at the Woolgoolga Regional Community Garden third annual open day.

There's garden bed building, a jumping castle, face painting and re-creating the Woopi Garden sign for the kids and learning about plastics, garden tours, bio-dynamic and composting talks for the adults.

Television personality and landscape architect Costa Georgiadis will be the special guest on the day.

"The principle behind this day is to invite as many of the service clubs, charities and not-for-profits to be able to showcase their organisation to the community at large," a spokesperson for Woolgoolga Regional Community Gardens said.

"I think all of us are in awe of the amount of volunteer organisations that are in our area who work to make Woolgoolga and our region a great place to live."

The opening day will be held on Sunday, August 27 from 10am to 2pm.
